ANNOUNCER: Sam Wyche was a quarterback, head coach, and broadcaster in the NFL. Last year, he became a heart recipient.

SAM: My life was saved on the last day that I was supposed to be on this planet. And now I know what a miracle feels like.

It changed my appreciation of every second of every day.

I don't know who donated that heart, but my new heart gave me a new mission in life. And that is to get others to sign up to be organ donors.

The most common thing I hear when I ask people why they haven't signed up is "I don't know, I just haven't thought about it."

Well why don't you think about it? Think about the life you might save or the life you might enhance.

There are over a hundred and thirty million people that have already signed up. They're men and women, all ages, all races and they have one thing in common – they want to save lives.

Please sign up to be an organ, eye, and tissue donor.

Go to organdonor.gov.

ANNOUNCER: U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Health Resources and Services Administration.
